Suuna Kizito – Director of Human Resources & Membership

Uganda Association of Quebec (UAQ)

Suuna Kizito serves as the Director of Human Resources & Membership for the Uganda Association of Quebec (UAQ), where he leads the association's membership development, volunteer coordination, member welfare, and human-resource activities.

In his role, Suuna is responsible for welcoming and registering new members, maintaining accurate membership records, supporting member engagement, and encouraging active participation in UAQ programs and activities. He works to ensure that every member feels respected, valued, supported, and connected to the association.

Suuna also oversees volunteer recruitment, orientation, placement, and development. He works closely with UAQ's executive leadership and departmental directors to identify volunteers' skills, assign suitable responsibilities, promote teamwork, and support the effective delivery of community programs and events.

Committed to fairness, confidentiality, professionalism, and inclusion, Suuna helps promote positive working relationships within the association. He supports the implementation of organizational policies, ethical standards, conflict-resolution procedures, training opportunities, and initiatives that strengthen leadership and personal development.

Suuna believes that people are the foundation of every successful community organization. His vision is to build a strong and engaged membership in which individuals can share their talents, access support, develop meaningful relationships, and contribute to the growth of the Ugandan community in Quebec.

Through compassionate leadership and dedicated service, Suuna continues to strengthen UAQ by promoting membership growth, volunteerism, unity, accountability, and a genuine sense of belonging.

Personal Motto:

"Empowering people, strengthening membership, and building a community where everyone belongs."
