Timothy Kirya — Director of Development & Partnerships

Uganda Association of Québec (UAQ)

Timothy Kirya serves as the Director of Development & Partnerships at the Uganda Association of Québec (UAQ), where he is dedicated to strengthening the organization's growth, building strategic relationships, and creating opportunities that benefit Ugandans living in Québec.

In his role, Timothy focuses on identifying and developing partnerships with community organizations, government institutions, businesses, sponsors, donors, and other stakeholders whose goals align with UAQ's mission. He supports initiatives that expand the association's programs, increase access to resources, and strengthen UAQ's long-term sustainability and impact.

Timothy is passionate about community development, collaboration, cultural promotion, and the empowerment of newcomers and families. He believes that strong partnerships are essential to creating meaningful opportunities in areas such as settlement and integration, employment, education, youth development, sports, culture, entrepreneurship, and community engagement.

Through relationship-building and strategic development, Timothy works to enhance UAQ's visibility and establish connections within Québec, across Canada, and with partners connected to Uganda and the wider African community.

Guided by UAQ's values of Love, Peace, and Unity, Timothy is committed to helping build a stronger, more connected, and empowered Ugandan community while fostering positive relationships with Québec's diverse communities.

"Building partnerships, creating opportunities, and strengthening our community together."
